

REFORMING REFORM

Reform is a quarterly bulletin of news, views and information about law reform in Australia and overseas.

- It helps co-ordinate the work of law reform agencies.
- It helps to make the work of these agencies known as widely as possible.
- It is an aid to the education of students of law at secondary and tertiary levels.

The Honourable Justice Michael Kirby, the indefatigable editor of the thirty-five previous issues of Reform, has stepped aside as Chairman of the Australian Law Reform Commission to take up appointment as President of the New South Wales Court of Appeal.

This edition of Reform has been prepared by an editorial committee consisting of some of the members and staff of the Australian Law Reform Commission. We are seeking your comments on how Reform's aims might best be achieved.
