Proceedings were instituted by Unilever against the ACCC in the Federal Court in Sydney on 25.6.96 seeking declarations that Unilever had not acted in contravention of the Act. On 26.6.96 ACCC commenced proceedings in the Federal Court in Adelaide seeking declarations that statements by Unilever made in consumer newsletters, in TV advertisements, and in statements on the actual cans of tuna, regarding the origin of the tuna, were false and misleading.

ACCC alleged that at least half of the John West tuna products, canned over an 18 month period from January 1995 consisted entirely of tuna imported into Australia, some being partly processed overseas.

Unilever's major argument was that it was sufficient to claim Australian origin if the manufacturing process had itself occurred in Australia.

Next directions hearing 7.2.97.

Participants of the Golden Sphere scheme had until 11.11.96 to opt out of the ACCC's representative proceeding. Approximately 1700 participants notified the Federal Court of their intention to opt out. ACCC staff estimate the total number of participants in the Golden Sphere scheme to exceed 8000. It is possible therefore that the ACCC may end up representing a group as large as 6000 people.

5.11.96 ACCC obtained registration of certain orders of the Federal Court of Australia in the Supreme Court of the Republic of Vanuatu. This effectively restrains the respondents from dealing with any assets within the Republic of Vanuatu. Application to set aside registration of Federal Court judgment heard in Vanuatu 8.1.97.
