Micro-chip Mysteries...

GUIA/C. That's computer-speak for an accounting system with a "graphical user interface".

But what is it? It essentially provides pictures ["Icons"] to point and click on (with your mouse!) to tell the computer what to do, rather than complex key-board combinations that give your fingers RSI!

It means that you don't have to remember sequences of letters and numbers or plough through menu levels just to find a client's address or to see what disbursements have been incurred for a given matter. This puts the practice in the practitioners control, as the practitioner can obtain the correct information when they need it rather than leaving a memo for the bookkeeper or secretary to find something when they get in the following morning.

Whilst the advent of the computer age has progressively hastened repetitive office procedures, it has often meant that information could be accessed only by the "computer gurus" who put it there. That is why we have designed an accounts based system that everyone can use.

It is important to select a system that can be flexible. Perfect Office can work on PC's on the Windows /Apple Macintosh or a mixture of both on the same network.

Mark Rossiter, Perfect Computer Consultants WA/NT manager, is conducting an information session at the Applecentre, 412 Stuart Highway Winnellie on Monday 5 December at 5pm. Anyone interested should call Mark on (09) 2214942 or 008 804 645.
