Michael Lavarch,
Federal Attorney-
General

His task force will fundamentally change the way you practise company and securities law

Once Mr Lavarch's Corporate Law Simplification Program is complete, all those rules of company law that you learned as a student and have been applying for years will have changed – some beyond recognition.

Under legislation to come into force this year, proprietary companies will be allowed to have only one director and shareholder ... exempt proprietary companies will disappear ... share buyback rules will (at last) become workable ... and much more.

To ensure you have the reliable, up-to-date information you need, CCH offers a range of services – from the comprehensive, in-depth Australian Corporations & Securities Law Reporter to the straight text of the legislation to regular reporting of cases, ASC releases and corporations court rules.

To find out more, contact CCH Customer Support on 1 800 801 438. We'll send you a free Corporate Law Simplification Pack which contains copies of CCH newsletters plus a book with the full text of the First Corporate Law Simplification Bill 1994 & Explanatory Memorandum. Hurry – only limited stocks of the book are available!

CCH Corporations Law reporting – unrivalled in speed, accuracy and reliability.

Appellate Advocacy, Adelaide

The Australian Advocacy Institute will conduct an Appellate Advocacy Skills Workshop in Adelaide on the weekend of October 20-22 1995.

The workshop will be led by institute Chairman the Hon Mr Justice Hampel. Other members of the teaching faculty will include David Bennett QC, Michael David QC, Sydney Tilmouth QC and Felicity Hampel.

Appellate advocacy is a time honoured art requiring skill and strategy.

Following the success of its previous Appellate Skills Workshops the institute has gathered a national teaching team of experienced judges and practitioners for this workshop. Those who attend will have the benefit of appearing before some of Australia's best appellate advocates and receiving constructive advice on how to develop and improve their skills.

Materials used in this workshop will be of an Australia-wide interest and will include both civil and criminal matters. Each case study is designed to raise specific issues for analysis and argument.

The pursuit of excellence by continued learning is one of the distinguishing features of a profession.

This workshop is a rare opportunity for practitioners to improve their appellate advocacy skills.

The teaching is intensive, so places are limited.

The workshop will consist of an introductory lecture on Friday evening, with workshop sessions on Saturday from 9am to 5pm and on Sunday from 9.30am to 1pm.

For further information contact Anne Craig at the Australian Advocacy Institute by calling (06) 249 7600.
