

L*t's Official - we're open

Over one hundred and fifty members of the profession accepted the Society's invitation to attend the formal Opening of its offices.

Boulevardised by the overwhelming response, Secretariat staff conducted its own telephone poll on reasons for attending. These ranged from a desire to check out the views to the one we liked best - a good reaction to the colour and layout of the invitation. However, by far the most popular response involved something to do with a drink and we are pleased here to present evidence that NT practitioners are men & women of their word.
