

Calling all practitioners ... The NT Law Handbook is going online ...

And we need you!

AustLII have been successful in obtaining funding from the Law Society Public Purposes Trust Northern Territory to update The NT Law Handbook. The NT Legal Aid Commission and Darwin Community Legal Service have joined AustLII in this exciting project to create a free and easy-to-navigate online resource, with links to relevant legislation and case law that will now be more accessible to Northern Territorians.

The Law Handbook is an essential reference tool for community and government organisations in the NT. In particular, this resource is invaluable:

- For organisations that offer free legal information and advice to disadvantaged members of the public;

- To facilitate the provision of legal information to those who would not otherwise be able to receive it, including people from diverse cultural and linguistic backgrounds;
- In assisting agencies that provide both after-hours and remote/regional information and services to clients.

As with previous editions of the NT Law Handbook, we rely on volunteers from the legal profession to assist in reviewing its content. This is an exciting opportunity for the legal profession to contribute to this unique online resource. All contributions will be directly acknowledged. If you would like to contribute, please contact stephanie.booker@ntlac.nt.gov.au.

Northern Territory
Legal Aid Commission

Admissions to the Supreme Court of the Northern Territory

Clare Stafford	Elizabeth Thomson
Verena Pichler	Jocelyn Cull
Emily Baxter	Nicole Sabamba