

BAUOY BITS... COLUMN OF ONLINE NEWS

IN JULY 1980, at the behest of the Automation Sub-committee of the AACOBS Queensland Regional Committee, a small scale survey on the online information retrieval training needs of Queensland libraries was carried out.

Questionnaires were sent to a total of 36 libraries – 14 colleges and universities, 18 government departments and authorities and five private companies. A total of 29 replies were received.

It is likely that there is considerably more potential for the development of online retrieval in the near future in both government departments and private companies, and the needs reflected in results must be regarded as an under-estimate for non-educational libraries.

The survey suggests that while most users of online bibliographic services in Queensland at present are the educational establishments, it is government authorities and industrial companies which may prove to be the heaviest users of the services.

The survey concludes that there are likely to be few new users in the tertiary education field. Expansion will be concentrated mainly on existing users, as they train more staff for searching and are able to deal with more search requests from their clientele.

It suggests that what is required is one group or person to act as a liaison with the training agents of the various database suppliers and local groups who are interested in the provision of online training. This person would act to ensure that a regular planned program of training is provided and appropriately publicised over the next two or three years.

Monica Davis of the Biomedical Library at the University of New South Wales reports that they have a tape/slide set produced by the National Library of Medicine on Medline: an introduction for users. Anyone wishing to see or to borrow it should contact Monica direct.

Insearch DIAL Services also has a new tape/slide set from Data Courier covering how a database is made. Interested people should contact me if they wish to borrow it.

A collection of user education materials, intended as a resource bank for librarians wanting to prepare materials for their orientation, publicity and user education programs has been prepared by the Caulfield Institute of Technology Library.

USER (User Education Resources) includes over 1000 items such as floor plans, guides to the literature of a specific subject, publicity material and exercises for students to work through as well as the more obvious 'library guides'.

A fiche catalogue has been produced and will be updated twice yearly. A subscription charge of $30 per year will be charged. Participants in the project will receive a fiche catalogue of the collection in June and November each year, as well as six issues of the newsletter USER News.

Subscription, materials for the resource bank, items of news, announcements for the newsletter and enquiries should be addressed to Patrick Condon, Chief Librarian, Caulfield Institute of Technology Library, PO Box 197, Caulfield East, Vic 3145. Telephone (03) 573 2157.

The Queensland Online Users Group has recently published as a supplement to the July 1980 issue of their Newsletter a directory of online search services in Queensland. Anyone interested in a copy, or wishing to be added to the list should contact Margaret Robertson, Library Academic and Student Services, Mt Gravatt CAE, PO Box 82, Mt Gravatt 4122. Tel (07) 349 7033, ext 294.

Contributions to this column should be sent to Katie Blake, PO Box J36, Brickfield Hill, NSW 2000, (02) 26 6344.

CSIRO

LIBRARIAN

Central Library
East Melbourne Vic

General: CSIRO has a centralised ordering system for all the paid serials required by its Divisions. The Serial Orders Librarian is responsible to the Orders Librarian for the placing of serial orders, the supervision of Divisional claiming procedures and liaison with the paying office. While Divisions operate their own budgets, the Orders Section is responsible for correspondence with subscription agents regarding invoices and problems of supply. There is an automated ordering system and the section is responsible for its own data input.

Duties: Under the direction of the Senior Orders Librarian responsible for the supervision and day to day maintenance of the library subscription program.

Qualifications: A university degree and eligibility for professional membership of the Library Association of Australia. Good general library experience essential. Acquisitions experience an advantage.

Salary: Librarian Class 1 or 2: $11,766–$17,843 pa.

Tenure: Indefinite with superannuation.

Applications: In writing and stating full personal and professional details, the names of at least two referees and quoting reference No A3365 should reach: The Chief Librarian, CSIRO, PO Box 89, East Melbourne, Vic 3002 by 12 September 1980.
