... a column on Meeting Information Needs on Disabilities

American Magazines, Newsletters and Periodicals on Special Needs.

There is an extensive range of literature in USA catering for specialised interests. Many of these publications are unknown in Australia, but they may be of value to some readers.

The following list has been compiled from People to People, published by the Tuscon Public Library Special Needs Service. For details of sources contact Judyth Lesea (editor/librarian) at Tuscon Public Library, 100 Sth. 6th Ave., PO Box 27470, Tuscon, Ariz., 85726.

Children's literature with theme of blindness and visual impairment

Visual Impairment Reference Libraries (Melbourne) is an association of six specialist libraries which have joined together to produce two publications. The latest publication is a select 'list' of Children's Literature with the theme Blindness and Visual Impairment. Listed are picture books and first books, a category for older and teenage children, and reference books.

In an earlier publication, A select book list of reference material on blindness and visual impairment (1981), the group described the nature of the holdings in their specialist libraries.

Copies of both documents and other information are available from Shirley Jones, Coordinator, VIRL (Melb), Royal Guide Dogs for the Blind, Chandler Highway, Kew Vic 3101. Phone (03) 860 4444.

Australian Braille Authority

In order to co-ordinate the production of Braille and to establish national standards, the ABA has been established.

The width of its deliberations is illustrated by the range of its standing committees on Literary Braille, Maths/Science/Computer Science, Methods of Education, Braille Music and Technical Matters.

To make recommendations or obtain information about Braille, contact Joan Ledermann (Chairman ABA) at Box 176, Burwood NSW 2134.

Items for inclusion in PROJECT Mind should be sent to Lloyd Junor, Melbourne CAE, 757 Swanston Street Carlton 3053. Phone (03) 341 8615.
