

Wanted: catalogue drawers

News reached Incite about a rather unusual library. The Tahmoor Baptist Church Library, 80km to Sydney's south-west, has been set up to provide Christian literature for its congregation. The aim is to provide a wide range of reference material, biographies and other publications on a Christian theme.

Already almost 1000 books have been obtained, largely through donation. Enthusiasm has been considerable in the cataloguing and indexing of the books and now some card catalogue drawers are required. Anyone with any drawers either to donate or sell should contact Gloria Morgan, Tahmoor Baptist Church, Cnr Hume Highway and Thirlmere Way, Tahmoor 2573. Phone (046) 81 8162.

Travel concessions for Tokyo IBBY

Good news for people wanting to attend the 20th IBBY Congress, to be held in Tokyo from 18-23 August 1986.

World Travel Headquarters has designed a number of special group departures to take advantage of travelling before the peak season airfare begins on 16 August. Australian delegates can participate in a tour before attending the IBBY congress and afterwards either remain in Tokyo for the 52nd IFLA General Conference (24-29 August) or return direct to Australia.

For more information, contact World Travel Headquarters, Group Development Division, 33-35 Bligh St., Sydney 2000. Early reservations are important as hotel accommodation is limited.

Please note

As from June 3, the Tasmanian College of Advanced Education (TCAE), is known as the Tasmanian State Institute of Technology.

The address and telephone numbers are unchanged but the telex code is now INSTEC 58675.

TRIAD Infoquest

Triad in Melbourne has recently purchased Infoquest's business name from The Myer Emporium Ltd. Infoquest is a commercial information service which was established by Myer in 1981 as part of its diversification into the communications industry. It publicly began to offer its research and information services to Australian business and industry in August 1982.

It is intended that Infoquest will offer the same type of services as in the past — online database searching, document delivery, research and analysis — and June Anderson, who was previously Manager, Infoquest at Myer, has joined Triad and will be responsible for Infoquest's operations. A wide range of clients use Infoquest — from large public companies to consultants, libraries, entrepreneurs, and small manufacturers, and during the past year an increasing number came from overseas. Infoquest specialises in industry and product overviews, and gathers their information from a wide range of sources.

The Triad directors see Infoquest as complementing their information management consulting and contracting services. They specialise in library and information systems design and database development, and recently have been appointed distributors for the powerful, low cost text retrieval software package, INMAGIC.

Triad also acquired Infoquest's Business Publications and will add two of their own titles LIST (Library and Information Science Titles) and a thesaurus Australian Business Terms for Use in Financial Institutions to the list of publications for sale.

Old favourites follow modern trend

Snow White and Pinocchio have moved into the 1980s by becoming titles in Corgi's 'Choose Your Own Adventure' series.

Part of a range of Walt Disney Choose Your Own Adventure titles, each one features full-colour illustrations throughout. Just how much of the traditional story is retained is hard to say, but the press release suggests that Snow White incorporates it, while the Pinocchio title seems to deal with one of his many adventures.

They sound like good value at $2.95 each. Enquiries to Corgi and Bantam Books, 26 Henley Crescent, Condell Park 2200. Phone (02) 709 2022.

Seminar on Developing Resources and Services: Marketing Libraries

In association with the annual meeting of the National Council in Sydney, AACOBS is conducting a seminar on Thursday 29 August 1985, at the New South Wales Institute of Technology. Dr Linden Brown, who lectures in Marketing, Planning and Strategy at the University of New South Wales will conduct the seminar.

The seminar, for library managers, middle management and above aims

- to raise awareness of the need for a marketing approach to the development of library and information services
- to develop understanding of the components of the marketing process
- to provide an opportunity to develop a marketing strategy for a definite objective.

Non AACOBS members are welcome to attend. The cost to AACOBS members will be $40.00 and $50.00 to non members. Those wishing to attend should write or telephone AACOBS, National Library of Australia, Canberra, ACT 2600, tel: (062) 62 1641.
