A whole new world of information — United States and International Patents

No one has more patent documentation on file than Research Publications. No one. And that's important to know in this quickly changing world. Whether you read historical, recently published, or newly issued patent documents, we provide it all. With access to documentation from patent issuing agencies around the world, we can get you exactly the information you need, whenever you need it. The ever-expanding universe of patents is easily accessible in your choice of archival-quality microfilm or in paper form. US Patents are also available on microfiche.

To keep current on the latest technological breakthroughs, The Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office, an updated weekly publication of abstracts by the United States Patent and Trademark Office is available both on microfilm and microfiche.

Put a world of knowledge at your fingertips.

A COMPLETE RANGE OF SYSTEMS

The hallmark of Geac's continuing leadership in library automation is the superior capability and flexibility of its integrated systems. From the smallest to the largest requirement, Geac has a system that fits.

More importantly, as needs grow, an existing Geac system becomes part of the new, expanded system ... without replacement of the original equipment.

Geac's Information Processing Systems range from single station size to multi-system networks of hundreds of stations.
