

Music report available

Following a consultancy undertaken last year by Professor Warren Bebbington, Dean of Music at the University of Queensland, the S.A. College of Advanced Education Library has recently received a comprehensive 104 page report with recommendations for the development of its services and resources to support music courses in the College.

Professor Bebbington, who is one of Australia's foremost musicologists, notes in his report: 'The following study has few precedents abroad and none at all in Australia; undoubtedly, some of its findings will be of considerable interest to those responsible for music collections beyond the College...'

College Librarian Alan Bundy says that for this reason the report is being made available at no charge to other libraries with an interest in music. Requests should be directed to Office of the College Librarian, SACAE Library, Holbrook Road, UNDERDALE, S.A. 5032.

Library Services appointment

Janet Hansen succeeds Jean Hart as Principal Education Officer, Library Services in NSW Department of Education — a position which leads a professional staff of 15 as well as library technicians and auxiliary staff.

Library Services provides support for approximately 2,500 school libraries in NSW government schools and advice concerning school libraries.

Janet Hansen has worked as both a teacher and a teacher-librarian in country and city schools. She was Senior Project Officer for the SCIS Subject Headings List and a past president of the LAA NSW School Libraries sections.

New appointment to ALIC

The Minister for Education, Senator Ryan has nominated Dorothy Peake, BA, MLib, FLAA Head, Information Resources Service, New South Wales Institute of Technology as one of her three representatives on ALIC. Dorothy replaces Margaret Trask who recently retired as Head of the Library School at Kuring-gai CAE.

Dorothy Peake brings to ALIC extensive experience in library management, building design, information retrieval systems, and the implementation of co-operative programmes. She is chairperson of CLANN Limited, a member of ALCAE and the NSW Regional Committee of AACOBS and is closely associated as a consultant with Insearch Limited, Australasian Agent for Dialog Information Services Inc., Palo Alto, USA.

People on the move

Three new appointments have been announced by the State Library of NSW:

Janine Schmidt, formerly Senior Lecturer, Department of Information Studies, Kuring-gai College of Advanced Education, has been appointed Director, Collection Services.

As a member of Senior Management Janine will be responsible for the implementation and co-ordination of the development and management of objectives, policies and strategies for acquisitions, including collection development, cataloguing, storage, restoration and conservation of the collections. With the challenge of preserving the nation's past for the future the State Library is confronting the major conservation problems facing large research collections.

The impact of new technologies on collection development, and the improvement of intellectual access to information records are Janine's major areas of interest. Libraries she has worked in include the University of Queensland Library, CSIRO Central Library and the University of New South Wales where she was foundation Physical Sciences Librarian. She spent 1984 on secondment to Insearch Ltd, Australian agent for DIALOG.

Rosemary Moon has been appointed Senior Librarian, State Film Library, State Library of NSW. She will manage the day to day operations of the Film Library, including promoting the Library and organising events such as film festivals and public screenings.

Rosemary has worked in film production in London and Sydney where she was involved in making educational documentaries for an international market. In 1979, she received a post-graduate diploma in communications at the NSW Institute of Technology specialising in film and television. She was secretary of the Australian Society for Educational Technology (NSW Chapter) from 1977-1985, and has spoken about and published articles on children and television for the Children's Book Council of Australia. From 1981-1985 she provided audiovisual consultancy services as part of her role as Children's Libraries Consultant at the Public Libraries Dept. State Library of NSW.

Julie Young, BA, Dip Lib, ALAA, was appointed Deputy Manager of the General Reference Library on 14 January 1986.

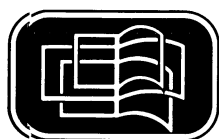

Julie brings a wide variety of professional experience to her position. Twelve months in a public library were followed by a variety of reader services positions including ILL, reference and reader education. She was also TAFE Regional Librarian, Hunter District, and more recently worked as deputy in both Cataloguing and Acquisitions for TAFE.

Julie commenced her masters in Librarianship at the University of New South Wales in 1985. Between her work and studies she also finds time to serve as Secretary to the LAA Biennial Conference 1988.
