Measuring the performance of public libraries

The IFLA Section of Public Libraries is conducting a one-day workshop on performance measurement, on Monday, 5 September 1988. The venue will be the new building of the State Library of NSW.

One of the Section's major projects has been to establish guidelines for performance measurement in public libraries. A draft manual has been prepared by Professor Nick Moore, Professor of Information Management at Birmingham Polytechnic, with financial assistance from the General Information Programme of UNESCO. The manual concentrates on broad principles and basic techniques, and aims to provide a common approach which can be used widely in different countries.

Keynote speakers at the workshop will be Professor Moore and Jo Bryson, Information Technology Planning Consultant for the Department of Computing and Information Technology, Western Australia. Workshop fee: $30, including lunch.

Applications should be sent to: Sue Phillips, Assistant Executive Director, Library Association of Australia, 376 Jones Street, Ultimo, NSW 2007. Further information about the workshop is available from Jo Bryson, (09) 222 0557.

'Happenings' is now on LIBNET. The LAA number is MLN 207500 (NALIA).
