Who's Where

Craig Boaden has been appointed to head the newly-created Resources Development Unit at the Centre for Pacific Development and Training.

The Centre, is part of the Australian International Development Assistance Bureau (AIDAB), Australia's chief channel for its programs of international development assistance. The Centre provides technical project support to AIDAB in its Pacific and Papua New Guinea bilateral aid programs and also provides non-formal training to public sector managers from countries receiving aid from Australia. The new Unit includes responsibility for management of the Hallstrom Library, the Resources Production Unit, and the Briefing Unit.

Craig, who trained first as a teacher and then as a librarian at Macquarie University and the University of New South Wales, has had considerable experience in the areas of information management and resource production. His aim, as he says, is 'to pull the new Unit together into a cohesive program and to upgrade the activities and profile of the three components, particularly the Briefing Unit'. He can be contacted on telephone (02) 960 9563 or fax (02) 960 2942. □
