LEARNING TO DISCOVER

Practical Approaches to Information Skills Development

TRB/BLM Margaret Ferrett $29.95

Learning to Discover demonstrates how to design and implement a successful information skills program. It is both reference and resource for active teachers and librarians who wish to properly equip students with research and communication skills.

Content includes:

- > A large wall chart: The Scope and Sequence of Information Skills in seven stages
- > Two comprehensive outlines of teaching strategies
 - Co-operative planning and teaching
 - The Process of Enquiry

- > Samples of total curriculum units covering the development of research skills.
- > Over 60 reproducible work sheets for students to use in a variety of situations, in three levels from 'Beginning School' to 'Independent Research'.

All orders from non account customers must be accompanied by cheque for full payment. Our freight and handling charges are as follows: Free for orders of $100 nett or more. NSW—$5 for orders less than $100 nett. Other states—$8 for orders less than $100 nett. All orders are firm sale. Returns will not be accepted.
