

ALIA welcomes new members

At their meeting of 25-26 March, General Council discussed the importance of letting the membership as a whole know the names of new members of the Association. It was decided that a list of all new personal members should be published in each issue of inCite. This will give members the opportunity to welcome new colleagues and encourage them to become involved in the activities of the Association.

I would like to take this opportunity, on behalf of ALIA, to welcome our new members for March 1994 and look forward to enjoying a long and mutually rewarding association with them.

Carolyn Cherrett, Membership Services Manager

Want value for your IT dollar?

ALIA National Office announces a new free service for members only

Ever asked yourself 'how do I go about doing this' in your work? We know some members do because they ring the National Office seeking assistance. Well, so that we can be of even greater help to you, our members, we will provide guides on the hot topics that most concern you. The first of these is on IT, now very much part of our working life. The Association is pleased to make available to our members the publication Value for Your IT Dollar. Guidelines for cost-benefit analysis of Information Technology Proposals. (Department of Finance, Canberra 1993.)

Although written for Commonwealth agencies the content is also relevant to the private sector. It includes comprehensive discussion of the principles and issues, a checklist, examples and exercises. The hypothetical cost-benefit analysis report is for the fictitious Office of Sports and Leisure Activities in the equally fictitious Department of Home Affairs (but doesn't analyse the cost-benefit of electronic whiteboards...)

Ring National Office for your copy.* Other IT topics will be available in May:

About the Internet/Networks
Automation and appropriate technology
Developments and trends in technology

We are grateful to the Commonwealth Department of Finance for giving permission to the Association to make these useful guides available to our members.

(*Note: Commonwealth agencies must obtain their copies from the Department of Finance.) ■
