

Who's where...

Mairéad Browne has been appointed to the position of dean, University Graduate School, University of Technology, Sydney from 1 October 1997. Her brief includes leadership in the development and delivery of all graduate courses at the University of Technology, Sydney as well as contributing to the policy on the academic direction of the University.

The job also involves extensive interaction externally, especially in the development of the University's international profile.

Jay Glaisyer has taken up the position of sales manager, Australasia for Swets Subscription Service. For the last three years Jay has held the position of sales manager at the Swets United Kingdom office. She will work from the Melbourne office of Swets and Prue Ottey will continue as assistant to the sales manager.

Jay will be evaluating Swets current position and instigating a plan for the continued growth of their operations within Australasia. She will continue to report to the head office in The Netherlands where Kevin Ward remains as Swets regional manager for the African and Australasian markets.

John Bacon has been promoted to the position of vice president, international sales and marketing, Baker & Taylor Information and Entertainment Services. John has been with the company since 1986 and under his direction Baker & Taylor has become the leading wholesale exporter of American books. John's promotion is in recognition of his contribution to the success of Baker & Taylor's international business and the emphasis the company is placing on the development of the world's markets.

Marcia Romanansky has been promoted to senior vice president, distribution for Blackwell's Book Services and to Book Services' Board of Directors. Marcia joined Blackwell's in 1989 as director of collection development, and was promoted to vice president in 1990. Since 1996 she has been senior vice president, purchasing and book distribution, for Blackwell's North American operations.

Anne Horn has joined EBSCO Australia in the newly-created role of academic consultant. Through keeping university librarians informed about EBSCO's products and services, and jointly identifying new services or new ventures, EBSCO will continue to be a market leader in providing efficient and cost-effective information delivery to academic libraries. Anne has over fifteen years experience working in academic libraries, including time with the Queensland University of Technology where she was the reference services manager, and Murdoch university where she managed the bibliographic services section — including cataloguing, acquisitions, serials and lending services section. Anne also had overall responsibility for planning and implementing computer systems for library applications, as well as staff development and training. ■
