Are you eligible to use the CPD post-nominal and apply for a Certified Practitioner certificate?

When you accumulate the minimum thirty points in the first year that you participate in the ALIA CPD scheme, you will be eligible to use the CPD post-nominal and may continue to do so as long as you continue to meet the CPD compliance requirements. To ensure your ongoing compliance, you have to accumulate 120 points over a triennium and maintain a personal record of the time spent on CPD activities to satisfy audit enquiries.

The Summary of Activities table (available at <http://alia.org.au/members-only/education/cpd/userguide/activities.html>) can assist you in selecting your CPD activities, and provides details about the documentary evidence required to comply with audit requirements.

If you have been an associate or technician member of the ALIA CPD scheme since July 2000 (or earlier) and have maintained compliance during that time, you may also be eligible to become an Associate Fellow of ALIA. For more details see <http://alia.org.au/membership/benefits/associate.fellow.nomination.pdf>.

International conference

Archiving web resources

9–11 November 2004, presented by the National Library of Australia and supported by the Australian Library and Information Association

Web resources form an important part of a nation's documentary and cultural heritage. Institutions with responsibility for collecting and providing long-term access to information face many challenges in extending their responsibility to web resources.

The conference will advance understanding of the issues through presentations on ways in which the web is being used. It will also review progress with addressing the issues at the institution level and through major international research endeavours.

This conference is the first of its kind to be held in Australia. It aims to bring together practitioners and decision makers from key institutions around the world to address issues of mutual concern at the strategic level.

Full details, program and registration form available at <http://www.nla.gov.au>. ■
