

Who's Where

Recent movements in the library and information sector

Senior appointments at Blackwell Publishing

Steven Hall will join Blackwell Publishing as journal sales and marketing director on 1 October 2004 and will be based at Blackwell Publishing's headquarters in Oxford. He will be a member of the company's management committee and will have ultimate responsibility for global journal sales, web publishing, central marketing and rights. Nancy Buckley has been promoted to the position of international journal sales director and will be reporting to Steven Hall.

Steven Hall has an exceptional background of achievement in scholarly publishing. In the 1990s he was first sales and marketing director and then managing director of Chadwyck-Healey. Most recently, Steven was senior vice-president, Publishing and Publisher Relations for ProQuest Information and Learning.

Nancy Buckley joined Blackwell Publishing in 1999 and manages an international sales team responsible for the sale of all online journals.

Jeroen Reiniers joins Endeavor

Jeroen Reiniers has joined Endeavor Information Systems as director of marketing. Reiniers will direct Endeavor's expanding marketing activities and presence around the globe. He will oversee marketing activity for the Endeavor Meridian system; the ENCompass system; the LinkFinderPlus comprehensive linking system and Voyager integrated library management system.

Most recently based in Singapore as the business development manager for LexisNexis — Asia Pacific, Reiniers has collaborated with libraries of all kinds in many regions of the world. Previously, he was the market and account development manager for Elsevier — Asia Pacific.

Elsevier appoints a new director of library relations

Tony McSean has been appointed as Elsevier's director of library relations. Mr McSean will be responsible for developing and enhancing Elsevier's relationships with librarians worldwide.

Mr McSean, who will be based in Oxford (UK), joins Elsevier from the British Medical Association where he was chief librarian for the past fifteen years. Mr McSean has been on the Board of the European Association for Health Information and Libraries since 1991 and has served twice as president.

Vin Caraher named president and CEO of Thomson Scientific

Vin Caraher has been named president and chief executive officer of Thomson Scientific, part of the Scientific and Healthcare market group.

Caraher was most recently executive vice-president of Pharma/Chemistry Markets, where he led a talented cross-organisation team to create and launch Thomson Pharma.

Caraher joined ISI in 1989, which was acquired by The Thomson Corporation in 1992. Having served in a number of senior positions, he was promoted to senior vice-president of Worldwide Sales and Marketing, where he led the international sales force created to launch the world-renowned Web of Science. In 2001, he was elevated to executive vice-president of Academic, Government and Services, prior to the development and launch of ISI Web of Knowledge — the single resource that facilitates discovery by offering researchers seamless navigation to the highest-quality, multidisciplinary journal, patent, and Web content, evaluation tools, and bibliographic management products. ■

New Informit Resources

informit

The Source for Online Australasian Information

Informit e-Library

Access over 130 titles online, including cover to cover journals, monographs, conference proceedings and research papers.

Now available on the Informit Search interface.

A+ Education

A+ Education is an online collection of full text articles from more than 130 Australian and New Zealand education journals indexed in the Australian Education Index database (AEI).

Family and Society Plus

A new enhanced online database based on Australian Family & Society Abstracts database (FAMILY), with full text articles from a number of journals.