Who's where

QUT announces new director of libraries

The Queensland University of Technology has announced the appointment of Judy Stokker as director of library services. Ms Stokker will commence duty in early February. She was previously manager of the Kelvin Grove branch of QUT Library. She succeeds Gaynor Austen who retired in September last year.

Young professional goes strategic Young Professional of the Year 2006 Anastasia Govan has joined Whitehorse Strategic Group as a Director and shareholder. Ana has an extensive background in the planning and development and management of IT projects, most recently for the Department of Health and Community Services and for the Power and Water Corporation, in the Northern Territory. She is also a lecturer and co-ordinator at Charles Darwin University.

Well-known industry personnel move to RMIT

Dr Susie Prestney and Dr Peter Macauley have recently joined RMIT University's School of Business Information Technology. They will teach in the Bachelor of Business (Information and Knowledge Management) and Graduate Diploma in Information Management programs and supervise higher degree by research candidates.

Susie previously worked at City Library as the Multicultural Services Librarian, and as Community Development Project Coordinator for Yarra-Melbourne Regional Libraries. Peter was Manager, Faculty of Education Library Services and Waterfront Campus at Deakin University and a part time Senior Lecturer in the Faculty of Education.

From Maribyrnong to the Barwon

The new CEO of the Geelong Regional Library Corporation is Patti Manolis, whose former position was Manager, Community Learning and Libraries at Maribyrnong City Council.

SirsiDynix CEO steps down

The global library technology company is searching for a new Chief Executive Officer since Patrick Sommers resigned from the companyin mid-February after six years in the top position.

Client relationships at Insync

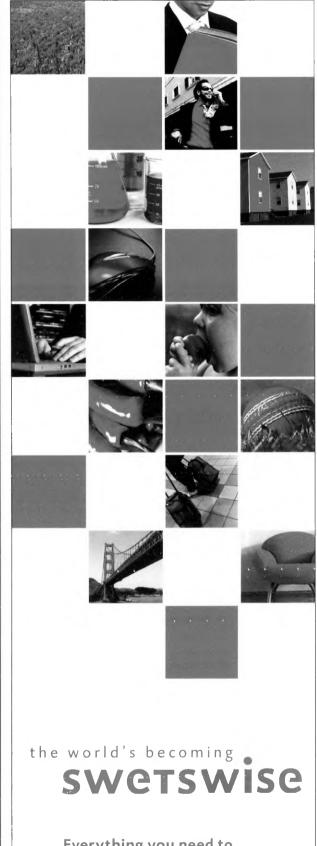

Insync Surveys has appointed Michael Samarchi as a Client Relationship Manager to grow its presence in the library sector. He also takes responsibility for the continued success of its 10-year relationship with the Council of Australian University Librarians (CAUL).

Knight to Neilsen

Nielsen Book UK announced the appointment of Richard Knight as Operations Director, with effect from 1 December 2006. Over the last 10 years Richard has built a strong business and a great team and has helped to put BookScan at the forefront of decision-making in the publishing industry not only in the UK and Ireland but also South Africa, Australia, Spain and Italy.

New OCLC PICA director

As of 1 March 2007 Eric van Lubeek will be joining OCLC PICA as the Director of Operations and Services. Eric will become a member of the OCLC PICA Board of Directors. He will be visiting all other OCLC PICA offices in Germany, United Kingdom, Switzerland, France, Australia and USA frequently.

Everything you need to acquire, access and manage your subscriptions

www.swetswise.com