

Touring techs

Macquarie University's glamorous new library was the star attraction when the ALIA Victorian and NSW Library Technicians Groups got together earlier this year.

The tour was organised by Kerrie Kelly, Secretary of the ALIA Victorian Library Technicians Group and hosted by Wendy Palmer and Matthew Cowdery, who welcomed their visitors with open arms – in keeping with the symbolism of the striking entrance design. Among those on the tour were Wollongong TAFE library student Amanda Savory and Robyn Lacy, both Library School Administrative Officers with the NSW Department Education and Communities who told INCITE the tour was very informative and the company most enjoyable.

Everyone's a winner

In May, over 100 people braved the wintery Adelaide weather to enjoy a fun-filled night at the annual ALIA SA Quiz Night. ALIA SA's Tim Ormsby says the theme – Think Outside the Book – was borrowed from this year's Library and Information Week theme and allowed for some creativity on the tables, with the team who catalogued and barcoded every item on their table (including themselves) taking out the best themed table prize. Two heads-and-tails contests saw $215 raised for the Smith Family charity. Many thanks to major sponsors Softlink (who kindly donated the Kobo ebook reader door prize) and Fry's Library & School Supplies, as well as ALS Library Services, Haymeadow Stories, Haigh's and Mount Barker Community Library.
