

GOT A TASTE FOR ROMANCE?

The Australian Romance Readers Association (ARRA) is inviting public libraries across Australia to help connect lovers of romance fiction. The competition is open until St Valentine's Day on 14 February and public libraries wishing to participate can download flyers and posters to share from the ARRA blog at australianromancereaders.wordpress.com/2013/11/14/national-library-competition/.

The Australian Romance Readers Association (ARRA) was established in 2008 to provide a forum for romance readers to connect, communicate, share and explore all things romance fiction.

Readers can win one of five prizes of a year's membership to ARRA by finding the two code words (one on the ARRA blog and one on the poster displayed in the library) and completing the online entry form on the ARRA blog. The competition is open nationwide and entry is free. If your library would like to be involved, contact the ARRA at arra.libraries@gmail.com.

Do you read romance?

Have you joined the Australian Romance Readers Association yet?

For your chance to win a year's free membership of ARRA, visit your library to find the code word.

Terms and conditions are available on the ARRA blog.

www.australianromancereaders.wordpress.com/competition

Already a member?
You can still enter the competition for the chance to win an extra year on your membership

Don't want to wait?
You can join ARRA now and enter the competition for the chance to add an extra year

AUSTRALIAN ROMANCE
READERS ASSOCIATION

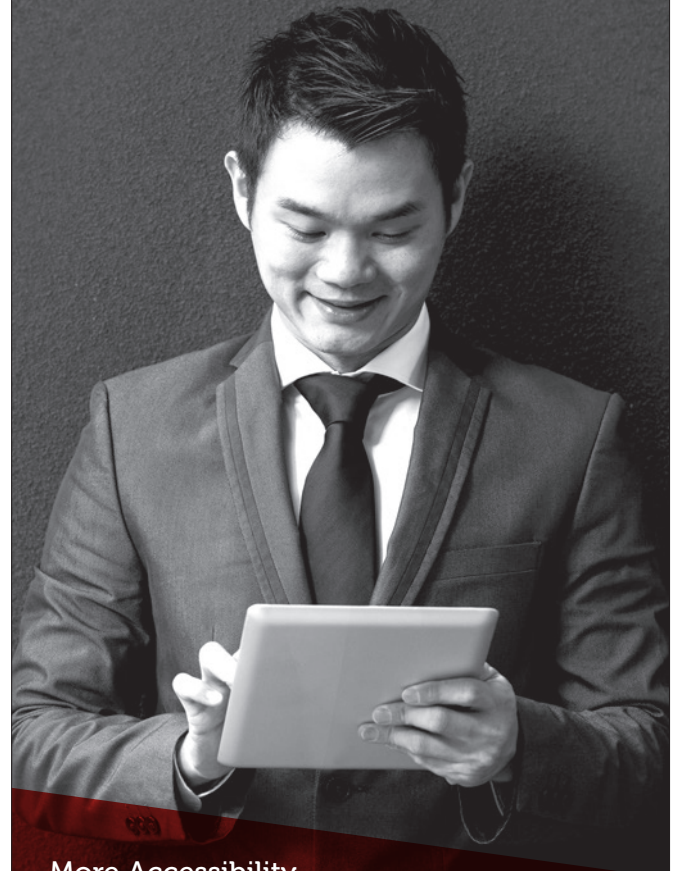

Australian Romance
Readers Association

Read. Share. Engage.

www.australianromancereaders.com.au

Informit Version 4

CONNECTING YOU TO RESEARCH

- More Accessibility
- Less Complexity with ...
 - » Streamlined interface
 - » Intuitive navigation
 - » Instant search

Informit Version 4 beta A powerful search engine

Informit Version 4 beta delivers an intuitive and integrated search experience. Search is now available from the word go as databases are loaded by default. Instantly type in key words using Simple Search and the powerful search engine will float your most relevant results to the top. The new tabbed interface and the Informit Toolbar allow easy navigation between various key search functionalities.

Experience the new intuitive way of finding relevant research: <http://beta.informit.com.au/>

 RMIT
PUBLISHING | Research for your global future

 informit